How to Clean Wittow Parasters.

The work may be done most advantageously on a sunny, broosy day in summer. First brush away all dust that may have accumulated in the cruvious and then scrub theroughly with a stiff brush, warm soft water and white seep. Wipe dry with a soft cloth and place the farniture in the ann and wind to dry quickly. If it is desired to bleach the wood, procure a covered box that is large enough to contain the piece of furbiture, and after the latter has been washed and while it is still wet place it in the box, set a dish containing a small quantity of burning eniphavinous tick bottom of the box and close the lid lightly. In about half an hour the arlied will have been nlooly bleached and (my them be removed from the box.

MacAndrow, one of our most promising local pilebers and a rising hase hallist, was put into the box, and for the Brat aix simings pilebed a retaarkable gain, but evidently the yelling of the speciators somewhat ratifed him, cavaing him to go to piecea in the acceptable. We believe the continued yelling of the Holbrook club against visiting chis is the very worst in the lengue, and deserves reduck. A proper amount of encourage, ment should be given the home club by its townspeople, yet when it goes no her as to be alsolutely insalting and almostous to the visitors, then it should be stopped, if within the province of the Lesgue monagers.

Daring the first half of the gaine, the Brainfrees exhibited airong batting, but woakened during the last half. Rudderham caught his assal game behind the bat, while Thomas is entitled to credit in the manner in shipt his covered second base.

In this lown, and also in other towns along the south shore, many who here heretofore been enthusiante followers of the intrines of the two oil perties, have concluded to break loose from their former party ties and vote the People's party tiket. Judging from the intention of an many of the voters, publicly eapressed, to vote for the candidates of the People's party, it is safe to say that, if we do not succeed in carrying asvoral towns in this vici aity this fall, we will not least succeed its forming the nucleus of a party which will, in 1880, be invincible out awespeverything before it. Up to the present time we have had us organization. In Norfolk or Plymouth countries, and have not own had any candidates for the minar offices on the ticket. This year it is probable that the party will have candidates for every place upon the ticket, and an efficient organization in avery town at a Weymouth, Quincy, Brathire, Hollerook, Rondelph, Hingham, Cohasset and Scitnett, the verfluiners.

Hew to Make Delightful Teast.

Lobster toast can be usade from the seminant of a can of lobster. Remova my atray bones and chop the fish very fine. Put an equal weight, not an equal balk, of butter in a bowl and work it with a wooden spoon until a creamy consistency. Stir in the lobster, a little lemon julce, salt, pepper, and, if you have any on hand, a little anchory sauce. Mix antil theroughly incorporated and taste to see that it is seasoned nicely. A small quantity of this apread on hot buttered teast makes a most delightful breakfast relish. How to Make Teast Wilbout Teas Boil half a pint of hops for half au hoar in 4 quarts of water; then strain and allow to cook. When lukewarm, and allow to cool. When lukowarm, add a teaspoouful of salt and half a cup of from sugar. Mix half a cup of flour smooth with some of the liquor and pour lute the mixture. Let this stand two days, when add a punul of potalose, boiled and smashed. Stir well, let stand another day, strain and bottle. Leave the corks losso at first and allow it to stand at least 10 days before using. It usually takes one-half n cap of good yeast for four leaves of bread.

A very thin Gase.

A very thin Gase will prevent the formation of freet on the glase. This prevents the muisture forming thereon and will stay antil it collects so much, dust that one cannot see through it. Glycoriu can be employed anywhere for same purpose. Doctors and dentists use it on the small looking glases with which they examine the toeth and throat, and eighte drivers have employed it to prevent their lookoat holes being made necless by frost or mist.

E. W. HUNT,

Preventing Waste of the Tissues by Beans or "Skin Pond."

Refereing to the initiations of ags, a briter in Good Homekeeping says: The fact that the tissues are westing away suggests that they should be fed in a different way from that it which they usually derive unsteadned. For this purpose "skin foods" are manufactured and soid at a high price by "ceamplesion specialists."

When we consider the anatomical structure of the skin and how easily is histories substances applied to it, it seems not only possible, but probable, that we can be allow the increase of fiesh. But we must in this with ears and discretion.

There are connectes soid under the title of skin foods that owe their efficacy to average the which for a thin give firmess and luster to the skin, but this effect is merely temporary. In time the texture becomes nitered, and prenature wrinkles are produced. But the idea of a skin food in a good, and below I give n formula which its good, and below I give n formula which usely be condent to an early perfectly intrinless:

"Melt fugstler in a vessel innerered in thay be coacle at home, the Ingredients of which, it will be seen at n glance, are perfectly harmless.

"Melt tagether in a vessel immersed in boiling water 8 ounces of unition and (clearlied), 3 ounces all apermacell and 1/4 ounces of white was. When theroughly netted, pour the whole in a pan and test the mass continually until it is uniform bedy. Add anough resewater and berganot to produce an agreeable perfane. Itematic again until thin enough the pour and fill wide mouthed bottles or possed jars and lated "Skin Food."

In order to make the skin is a sensitive, recently condition before using the skin food, it is best to steam the lace. To do so conveniently fill a large monthed funnel into the spout of the teakettle, maken a sunbounct of thick paper, and after covering the eyes with cotton in prolece-them from the steam adjust the bounce and at so that the atom from the kettle will reach the face. About 15 mines will be long enaugh of the steaming process. Remove the cotton and scraps the face with an lovry paper kalfe, rut with in lowel and amount with a liberal supply of the skin food, Let it remain oversight, protecting the belline irons oil by the use of vid anuallu spread over the pillow.

Methods of many singers differ as to the Care of the voice, but for uthers' benefit it is well to know some of them. Callineger, the famious soubrette, treats her threat before each performance to a good rubbing with run und glycerin. Labatt, the great Swedish tenor, ate two salt pickless before going ou to sing. Wachtel used the yolk of an egg with sugar. Many drink beet, champague, soda water or punch. Walter, the tenor, drinks cold coffee without creum, and delabilinger relies on a glass of grog. drinks cold coffice without oream, and cideltinger relics on a glass of greg. Kelia Trebelli, the finnous contralto who died not long ago, always drank temonate before also went on the stage. Kinderman chewed dried prunes during the intervals, and Southeino swore by a pluch of small before rech arts. Some singers will not anoke at all on the day they expect to sing, willo others claim that a eigarettu before the cartain rises puts them in best voice.

Of course Host interest in the conversation at cuce and coughed lightly to lot them know? I was there, but as that moneant the big globe containing the carbons for the are light began to hiss and aparter over our beads, and finally it flooded all the terrace with the steely white tilumination of electricity. The girls shricked "Ob!" at this sudden brilliancy, but went on with their talk.

"And how did be find out where they were?" asked the younger girl.

"Oh, in the most ingenions way," replied the elder. "If the ride to bribe the people in the office, and, I believe, spent a lot of money, but no one knew where they were except the confidential clerk, and of course there was no use in attempting to bribe him. Then the Cornica road that runs from this hotel to Neuhausen the alectric light man was illuminating the town, and suddenly, as if the very spirit of mischief had come over him, he turned the light full on the road, and there, just like a magic lantern picture, stood the carriage. Every one on the terrace recognized the girl, and her parents recognized the young man."

"Oh, wasn't that terrilor" cred the young girl, and f felt sure ahe clasped her hands in the darkness.

"And then what happened?"

"Oh, the old gentleman jumped up and ordered a carriage and horses, but if course it takes some time to get them ready. The mother began to cry, and the father raged up said down awearing, while everybody in the hotel seemed to wish godspoed to the young couple."—Detroit Free Frees.

wasto breeds vermin, such as have been found on pork, which live and generate in the human body, producing disease and death. I um not making u pies for the absolute disuse of animal food, int against the bad quality of very much of it, and also against the inordinate use if that which may be good in quality. A certain amoant of animal food is useful to the control of or or nourishment, especially in winter time, because of its heat producing quality. But meat in the quantities and with the frequency common among as is in no way necessary for the proper instenance of the haman system.

A Oasseal Frinciple.

God's hill of fare in the eleventh shapter of Leviticus excluded from the lables of the Jows the hog and all water feculzons except those that had fins and scales. This hill of fare was given to the Jows not only for the preservation of their health, hut as God's great purpose was moral reform he had an eye single to their moral condition in the matter of their eating. Does any one doubt that the mentalthy, ugly and victous elements that nake up the flosh of most of the onlicus we eat enter our blood and in that way affect the disposition or carriage of the sent?

We forget, my bearens, that the great law of nainer, "Like produces like," is aniversal. "Every seed after its kind is the law of all creation." There is no exception to this law. This principle obtains not only in the production of life, but in the processes of its devulopment. If my position about the intimacy of soul and body is true, then, if a man's body is made up chiefly of flesh taken from diseased animals and his whole physical frame is saturated with the irritating and exciting condiments of what is popularly called good food, the whole hisse out of, food as well as in the generation of stock in the stall.

If, therefore, our meat has something to do with our morals, or if our food in some way uffect our faith, it seems to me that many of our offerts at moral ought to be prefaced by instruction in hygiene. In other words, efforts to make

If it is, why would it not be well for tha town to own its own electric lights and street raifweys?

If private ownership is anch a good thing for the people as it is represented to be, than why do we have public streets maintained and supported by the town?

I hope that some reader of your papers will naway these questions, as I am very anxious to gain information.

The New England Feir.

The New England lair is to be held in Worcester, Mass., September 4, 5, 0, and 7. The New England Agricultural socioly has become a somewhat venerable institution, having been organized in 1864. It was the creation of Dr. Goorge B. Loring, who was its first president and held the office continuously until bia death in 1860. Illon. Daniel Needham, who had for many years been the efficient accretary, was hy the unanimous choice of both the trastees and incembers of the society, made of the successor of Dr. Loring. Both of these gentlemen have been largely interested and taken a prominent part in thingreat advancement that has been made in agriculture in this country during more than a third of a century. And this society has had-2 affections and important infigured in its growth in New England. It has received in each from these more than $500,000, mearly half of which has been distributed in premiums and the benaft of agriculture. Te the breeders of stock, the dairymen, the manulacturers of larming tools and implements, and other porsults connected with agriculture, the New England fair has been of incalnable benaft. After a thorough examination by ourselves, and receiving the endorsement of some of the best dry goods houses in the New England States, and particularly from several behave who formerly estriced Buttericks—who now entry the Standard—we are now convlueed that the "Standar Fratterns" are far superior to all "others, in being more up-to date ster modeled, simpler directions for making—frauting perfect salisfactation, no great saving in time, much less fitting to do, and allowing just enough stems, mercically saving in material—there being no waste as in others—every pattern is modeled to the human form, and greas onledy proportioned that it is almost impossible to produce anything (if directions are followed, and which are extremely simple) but a beautiful fitting garment.

Try one of the STANDARD PATTEINS on our recommendation multiwa think you will agree with us that they are better than any other pattern sold in this town.

A plano should, as e rule, not be used more than two hours a day to keep it in the lest equilition. More than this slow-ly saps the instrument of its best energy. Another thing is that e plano must be allowed to hreathe. The fashion of smothering a plane in heavy druperies is as bad as putting it close against e well. It should be placed if ow lucker from a wall. Never leare it open in damp weather, but niweys leave it open on clear, dry days, protected from dast. Keep a channols skin over the keys when not in use.

How to Make Tartar Eases.

Put the yolk of one fresh egg lu so bowl or a deep soop plate. Commence attring this about gently, always one way; then gradually stir in a quarter of a tehlespoonful of dry mustard. A boxwood spoon or fork is the best to stir it with. After you have attrout this for one minute take a bottle of Freuch olive oil, and drop by drop stir it in. As it gets very thick, thin with a few drops of Tarragon vinegar or lemon jnico, continuing the stirring all the time. Repositing process till you have as much mixed as you need. The yolk of one egg will use no a pint bottle of oil. Add to this half of a medium alzed red onlon, a spring of parsley, it tablespoonfuis of capers, oil chopped very fine. Bits well togother, add a dash of red pepper, and you have a perfect tartar sauce. How to Make Turter Saure.

A Consideration of This Great Problem by The American Cultivater.
The problem which confronts farmers is how to increase the productive capacity of their farms. This question is much difficult by the fact that the farm, while being improved, must provide a living for the man who cans it, foguther with pay for the lebor employed in working it. Hierotopre it has been those mecasities that have obliged farmers to grow and sell the more ochenative crops because they sold for the most money. There has been close competition by farmers who were cooping and exhausing virgiu sell. That now has ended. The farmer in the great west is under the same necessity of restoring fertility to his partly exhausted land as is the farmer in the castern states. In this contest the victors will be the farmers who secure the best clock and are thus able to turn ell the products of their farm into the manure pile with the greatest profit. The most serious losses of farmers come from keeping atock that does not pay its way, hutuur morely paying its way is not enough. The greatest proturns from food given to stock the more cheaply the farm can be fertillized. The farmer who has set out to make his farm richer should not sell anything from it except as it is the product of some stock to which it has been fed.

A second point and hardly less important is to grow as jargely as possible of recovering crops, like clover and other leguninuss plants which procure nitrogenous fertillity can be thus maintained, the farmer can well afford to purchase supplies of potash end phospitats that are useded. By seeding with clover so often as every third year and allowing the clover to occupy the land Itean's fthaumatic Pills absolutely curs lineumatism and Neuralgin. Entirely regotable. Safa. SSS

Dry and Fancy Goods and Millinery Store,

158 Hancock Street, City Square, QUINCY, MASS. D. E. WADSWORTH & CO.,

DRY GOODS, HOSIERY and UNDERWEAR,

After a thorough examination by ourselves, and receiving the gudorsement of some of the best dry goods houses in the New Engleud Sitses, and purtlemany from several houses who formerly carried Buttericks—who now carry the Standard—we are now convinced that the "Standard Patterns" are far superior to all others, in being more up to date, better modeled, aimpier directions for making—hanring perfect antiafaction, a great saving in time, untel leas fitting to the, and allowing just enough seams, thereby considerably saving in material—there being no waste as in others—every puttern is modeled to the human form, and are so nicely proportioned that it is almost hupossible to produce myshing (if directions are followed, and which are extremely simple) but a beautiful fitting garment.

Try one of the STANDARD PATTERNS on our recommendation and we think you will agree with us that they are better than any other pattern sold in this lown.

Ecke and I are twina. We were, in faci, set the time of my story. Always here been as far back as I can remember, and that is a good iong while. I know that is the reason they called us Zake and Zed-Zekiol and Zedekiah, but somehow we could never quite forgive them for giving us those names. We are alike, and always have been. When we were boya, mother had a great fancy for similarity in our dress. A patch on one knee meant a similar patch on the other boy's knee. The storekeeper never tried to sell her samples of goods unless the remnant contained enough for two pairs of pants or two coats. Hence none but our parents knew us spart. Zeke had a large wart upon his left hand, white I had none. He had often tried to remove it, for people were ever on the leokont for that wart. If ut it was not to be got rid of so easily.

We were very fould of each other. I we were very fould of each other. I am sure up to the tips of our manchood one never did nor colaid do anything without the other one at his heels. But when we were 1 Zake did something which left me entirely lu the cold. I have never too near, I was rown along where too near and one too many. It was very bitter to near I was rown along where too near and one too many. It was way bitter to near I was rown along where too near and one too many. It was all he said.

It made me feel rather mean, and I falt inclined to give him something to turn the channel of his thoughts wit somehow I loved him too much to bother him, and so we jogged along for y year.

We used in those days to have singing and spelling schools, and it was at it was at it was at it was at it was those places that we young people paired off for the walk home. One night I stopped and talked with some of the boys after Zake and Nellie had grow home, so I had a good chance to observe them just shead of me as I neared them on my way home. The moon was bright and the moon withly and the motor and any interest to take ne mitch so only as the stopped and the should be supplyed and the moon was bright and the moon withly and the motor and any way home. The moon was bright and the moon was highly and the motors of the plot for the house and mue for the barn, and if I neared them they would begin to talk about fertiliting it for most years' corn crop. Bad I been a little lake in the contract of the plot for the house and mue for the barn, and if I neared them they would begin to talk about fertiliting it for most years' corn crop. Bad I been a little lake in later years, when I found a little lake in later years, and when other years corn crop. Bad I been a little lake the place of the house son the cause of Zake's sotions.

But in later years, when I found a little lake in later years, and when other had to the place of the place o they went on.

'I want to ask you, Zeks, If we had amement and whispowed "Good night" as she went in.

My cheeks burned, my fingers tingled, my heart fittlered, so I broke inte a rapid run and fied homeward.

Meantime Bob left Zeke, and the other boys came beek round them and asked questions and laid plane. A ringing laugh now and then from the entry allayed Zeke's fears concerning Nell for awhile. As the plan was laid one of the girls said as he came out:

"Zeke, Nell couldn't walt so long. But she docun't want you to feel hed aboos it."

ha was saxious to lay the plans for a grand sing and enhibition in the near future, so kept Zake all right.

But to return to Nell and myself. It was welcad, to be sure, but I took her little hand in mine and pressed it as I knew Zeke did and walked on silently, ""There's Dave and Jen behind na," I whispered at length, "so we'll talk low."

''Yas," she repled. I hardly hew what to asy next, yet half the distance was traveled, and I was listening for Zeke's stride behind us.

"Wase makes you go so fast, Zeka," she whispered. "It will be over too soon."

"To keep these behind us," I replied. "Let them pass," and she stopped still, and Dave and Jus langhed guyly as they went on.

as they went on.

"I want to ask you, Zaka, If we had not better have breakfast at 8 instead of 7, for the hour is rather early, and I am afraid Cousin Helsen wor's get over in time," she whispered still. My heart went clap-a-te-slap, for here was the ungget of gold coming unasked.

"Perhaps," I whispered back. "Oh, Mell, how can I wait for the day?"

"Pshaw, you silly boy!" And then she pratitled an about the lines he grassma was making for her and her drass that was quite done, but no exact lime had she yes mentioned.

"And to think, I don't believe any one outside of my own family mistruste one word." She looked ap in my face.

"And no f m nine," I smilled back. "Bat they will before long." I ventured as I unlatched her gate, hoping agains hope she would give me what I was after, and she evestly put ap he lips and said, "Just one more day, my Zekhal." How could I kies that sweet insouth? I would here given my gray solt jest these to beve bean Zeks and he me. I had not bargained for a kies; but then, was she not as good as a sister. So I kinsed her and held her in my arms a moment and whispared "Good night" as she went in.

My checks burned, my flogers tinging don't heart flower and feel homeward.

out when the affair would take place. I confessed ignoreance.

The following plan was matured. But I will relate the results instead of the plan, only I will any first if Zake had used me like a twin brother ought I would have been better too. I feel half sehamed of myself now as I sit gray headed and a grandfather. To be sure, I laugh over the joke yet, but it was rather hard on Melly and your humble servant too.

I was to find the scoret plans from Mall herself. And I did. We were at singing school, Zeke and I, and, according to our custom, drassed just alike. I had seen Eable get through the occurrency so often I knew just how. So while one of the other boys, kept Zeke at the schoolhouse I took Nelly under my wing and escored her bonn. Zeke was a little anxions to be gone, they said, but Boh said the girls were watting in the eatry (so they were, meet of them), and ha was saxious to lay the plans for a grand sing and escorted ker bonn and the plans for a grand sing and exhibition in the near fature, so kept Zeke all right.

PULLING THE TONGUE.

This Simple Means One May Be Rease From Apparent Death, Professor Labordo of Paris has bee recou in the meta he has discovered, because any one may at any day find himself in a position to require the assistance they provide and to confer it on others. In brief, the facts are, according to a Paris correspondent of Popular Eclenon News, as follows:

berief, the facts are, according to a Paris correspondent of Popular Richnes News, as follows:

In any cases where death is impending, or when it seems even to have occurred, by asphysia under any torm, life may be restored and has been restored in many lease where other methods tailed merely by pulling out the tongue of the patient, amaping it firmly and stretching it as regular intervals, any every 16 seconds, for instance, and their relaxing it without isting it go. Now and then, every second or third minute, tor instance, the process may be stopped in order to accurate a whether breathing has begun again. In a great number of cases, after a lew stretchings of the tongous, which is firmly pulled out of the mouth, a spassmodic trajuration takes place. If a second one seems inclined to believe to go on until respiration seems to be side to go on until respiration seems to be side to go on until respiration seems to be side to go on of the own accord. By elemptically the process for a while, we can see whether breathing it restored. It may happen that one has to go on during half an hour or more, but it most cases success to estained in a shorter time. The method may be applied to a drowned person or the richin of asphysia by different gases, fire, etc.

Farmers are especially interested in the question, "Shall we beve lightning rods" which the government weather burean answers in the affirmative. An expert, Alexander McAdle, tells in a pamphlet recounty issued that, cut of 8,192 buildings reported as having been set on fire by thunderbolts in the nine years ending with 899, at least 2,335 were barns, and of the dwellings struck the majority were out in the country. The greatest danger is experienced on fatiands, where buildings are very widely separated. The region reporting the most damage lice between Wisconsin and Maiue and reaches down to the Ohio river and Maryland.

Mr. McAdle quotes several individual experts as well as the famous lightning rod conference in Emgland (1881) in support of the doctrine that, while not infallible, lightning rods are highly desirable. Mr. McAdle prefers a motalile tape to a rod for a conductor. The electricity in one case is confined to the variety of the control of the contr

How to Make Carrant Jelly.

Select freshly gathered ourrants which are not overripe and mash and squeeze them through a felly bag. Put the julce into a porcelain lined kettle and stand over a brisk fire, in told for 30 minutes, add a pound of sugar for every pint of juice and stir until it dissolves. Skim, bring to a boil, take from the fire, put in glasses and stand aside to felly.

It is maximum temperature, while the sizes of the liquid can be tried in a glass to see if done. A clear, light odored jelly can be med by using white and red corrants. Let cool and cover.

How to Recognize and Drive Oct the Russian thistic made its appear ance in this country a few years ago it the wheat raising region of the northwest. The damage already done by it is stimated at several millions of doliars, and the thistic is rapidly spreading over new territory and being more destructive in the region already infested. It is spread by the wind, by the transportation of flaxaced and by the railroads. The plant is an annual, eadly killed at any time during the growing season. It produces no seed before the middle of August or ist of September, and the seed is short lived. It therefore effore any effective measure, however, there must be concerted action throughout all the infested ares. Sheep are very found of the Russian thietie. By pasturing on the young plants they may be kept down. All the remedies are directed to destroy the plants before they produce need. The milling of wire fences to stop the rolling plants is a remedy strongly advocated by some. Under us conditions whatever should the cheaper grade of seeds be sown without recleaning.

CATCHING A TARTAR

of his kind, kept that carriage empty until the train started, and they found themselves alone, securely locked in.
A sudden start ran through her stouder frame. She paused and asked qulckly, "Do you know when the next train leaves Waterloo for Sonthampton?"
He was desolated. Of course she missed her maid, hat he was afraid not for some hours.

"Madame is glad? Madame is afraid of being followed?"
"Yes, madame is glad. She does not wish to be taken back and forced into a hindrin marriage," hindring prettily.
The old, old story—stern fether, elderly lover, titted, rich, but hurrid. No mother, to sister, no brother. She was flying from bondage to her annt, Lady Azuregore, in Gnorniney.

Yes, she was Lady Constance Annegore. Had he really met her at the Duchess of Ariington's dance? She thought she knew his face. That was why she trusted him so implicitly on the platform, of course. But if she was veiled, why was he so shrouded in a big cloak? "Come, uow," analosaly, "a lady? An elopoment?"

No, no, and again no! Nothing so igyons. He was Prince Paul Dentoff and had feilen between twe stools—had incurred the animity of the imperial court through conjecting with the nihilists. That meant the Alexiefsky Ravelie or the fortress of Peter and Paul in St. Petersburg, and, on the other hand, finding the "party of progress" going too fer, he was threatened with death for descring the red flag.

"You must parden me, prince, but we seem in trouble together," and she leughed merrily. "Do you know I half though! you were e detective?"

By this time is the all returned to his hamper and prodeced defrity a table cloth, plates, knives, forks end servictes, a amail bottle of Chatean Mouten Rothschild and e dainty cold chicken. They chatted, and he head in the sunded had sincked half a mild eigarette and he had kissed her hand.

She readjusted her veil, and he assumed his big cloak with a sigh as the whistle of the train signaled the station.

After a thorough examination by ourselves, and receiving the andorsement of some of the best thry goods houses in the New England States, and preticularly from several houses who formerly carried fluttericks—who now carry the Staedard—we are now convinced that the "Standard Patterns" are far superior to all others, in being more up to thate, better modaled, simpler directions for making—hissuring perfect satisfaction, a great saving in time, such less fitting to do, and allowing just enough seams, thereby considerably saving in material—there being no wante as in others—overy pattern le modaled to the human form, and are so nicely proportioned that it is almost impossible to produce anything (if directions are followed, and which are extremely simple) but a beautiful filling garment.

Try one of the STANDARD PATTERNS on our recommendation and we think you will agree with us that they are better than any other pattern sold in this town.

The Staudard Fashion Sheets and the beautiful Handy Catalogus are five to all.

The Ladian Fashion Sheets and the beautiful Fishing Castogue act to all.

The Ladian Standard Magazine is issued mouthly, costs but 50 cents per year and should be in every knuschold; you will surely subscribe for it when you have examined a sample copy at our clore; it is the best and obsapers ladies magazine in existence, slogic copies, 5 cents.

The Standard Catalogue contains over 1000 illustrations of beautiful styles—up to date—price 20 cents.

The second illustration represents the more general system of cultivation among growers where the ground is any ked out three to four luches deep and the seed covered at once with some covering direct that throws u heavy ringe over the pounts, rather which it is left to aprout and work its way up through the dark, cold earth, getting whiter and alliamer, as it nears the lorder of the sprout and work its way in through the dark, cold earth, getting whiter and alliamer as it nears the horder of the world it has been luming for the past three to four weeks and usually having but one lateral joint one hot roots and sela. I think this system could be greatly improved if the harrow or some mode of hoveling the ground were used after planting, patting the entire surface on a level, us furdicated at the dotted line E. Then when the joint and it ready to slart u leaf, put on mi implement that would throw back the original dirt, as shown in Fig. 2 at F. This modus operandl would induce the plant to add another lateral joint and thereby very largely herease the yield, which would pay well for the labor expended.

Buckwheat is usually grown on land not well suited to other grains, and this has ied source farmers to caperiment with seeding grass or clover with it. Some might think thut, sowed in hot worker, as hnekwheat ulways is, grass or clover seed would hurn little chance. But there are usually some roins early in July, and after the seed in germinated the broad backwheat leaves project the young plant from the secreting sun. By the time the buckwheat is fit to cut fall rains are due, and clover or to cut fall rains are due, and clover or timothy will make a growth that will keep them from being winter killed. Clover succeeds with hackwheal when sewed on sandy sell. It does not die oat in anumer, as it will when sewed with spring grain. Land too wet for spring grain can be seeded in Jaly with time-thy and bring fair crops a year or lwo, hat there is no way to keep such land from running into wild and inferior grasses eacept by draining it, accord-ing to American Chilivator.

How to Make a Blupla Fitter,

A very cheap and effective filter may be made by means of a common flowerpot. Fill the hole with a place of spenge and then place in the put altermate layers of sand, charcoal and enual pebbles. This may then be placed in a jar or other convenient vessel, into which the water as it passes through may be received. The effectiveness of this filter may be enhanced by having several flowerpois and letting thu water pass from one to the other into a receiver beneath.

Another filter is made by placing in a tank of impure water a vessel so arranged that a sponge which it contain shall lap over the edge and dip into the water of the tank. The sponge gradualby socks up and purifies the water in the reservoir and allows it to drop into the smaller vessel, from which it may be drawn off by a tube. By placing a few lumps of churcoin at the bottom of the receiver filtration of the most perfect kind is effected.
